

“Share Your Story”

They were our brothers, sisters, husbands and wives. Our mothers, fathers, buddies, and friends. Let's make sure their memories never fade.

The Education Center at the Wall will endeavor to honor and put a face with every name and tell the stories of those who served and sacrificed.

The Education Center at the Wall will be a place to educate and celebrate the values exhibited by America service members, including: Loyalty, Duty, Respect, Honor, Integrity, and Courage.

In addition, The Education Center at the Wall will preserve the history of the wars from Bunker Hill to Iraq-Afghanistan. The uniqueness of this center will take the visitors on virtual tours, and keep the memories alive for the millions who served, and for those who paid the ultimate price for our freedom.

And most important, The Education Center at the Wall will provide a place of “closure” for the families and friends of those who served our country so bravely.

Please join us at the AT&T Center on September 23, 2011

Bring pictures of your loved ones and friends who sacrificed their lives for our freedom, from the Vietnam to Iraq-Afghanistan wars.

We will scan their photos and they will be displayed at “The Education Center at the Wall” in Washington D.C. along with your stories.
